

SEP 17 1974

Re: Janus

It may answer your query that I was about to put the enclosure in the mail when your letter appeared on my desk!
 (I had been perusing that issue of Daedalus a ~~press~~ the enclosure.)
^{The quotation} ~~Chandler's remarks~~ struck me as especially true-to-life: suspension of judgment (to the point of indecision ^{needs}) simultaneous feasibility of the
 "Rashomon" perspectives exploring them many further & images; tolerance of ambiguity
 and also interplay of fantasy and of criticisms are the elements that come to mind.

PROFESSOR JOSHUA LEDERBERG
 Department of Genetics
 School of Medicine
 Stanford University
 Stanford, California 94305